

In2Out Resettlement Manager – Midlands

Location: Home-based Midlands, but with significant travel across the Midlands and to other custodial establishments.

Part time: 3-4 days per week (22.5 - 30 hours)

Contract: 12 months Fixed Term (renewal subject to funding)

Salary: £34,969 (pro rata)

Closing Date: 16th August 2024

In2Out, a charity mentoring young people (15–21-year-old) leaving custody, is looking to appoint a Resettlement Manager to oversee their work in the Midlands.

The role provides a fantastic opportunity to join a highly motivated team, working directly with young people who need extra support through resettlement mentoring, as they prepare to leave custody and return to communities in the Midlands. Managing our resettlement work across the region, the postholder will work closely with young people both pre and post release to improve their ability to successfully manage their lives back in the community, as well as building a network of contacts to support that process.

The Resettlement Manager - Midlands will represent In2Out within HMYOI Werrington and on occasion HMYOI Wetherby, as well as liaise with other agencies and professionals involved with a young person's welfare to support successful resettlement for 15–21-year-olds. They will also line manage the In2Out Mentor Coordinator in the region, and recruit and manage volunteers as necessary to help provide additional support for our young people.

The successful candidate will be passionate about working with vulnerable young people, be a team player, and be a trusted advocate, motivator and encourager whilst maintaining the highest standards of professional boundaries and quality in all their interactions.
